Pittsburg 4 2 Brooklyn 4 2 .667 St. Louis 1 4 .200 .556 Baltimore ... 1 5 .167 "CALLIOPE" MILLER'S UNDERSTUDY.

Indianapolis Gets the Pittsburg "Phenom"

and Will Release Clingman. Every member of the I. O. B. B. C. (Independent Order of Base-ball Cranks) either knows or has heard of that nonpareil, quadruplex ball-player and coacher on the Smoky City team who goes by the specific sobriquet of "Calliope" Miller. Miller is not only one of the pluckiest and most efficient backstops in the business, but put him on the infield and he is an irascible and bitter enemy to base hits and liners, being also a deadly thrower from the position of third base or short-stop to first. Likewise, he is a terror to pitchers. When he can't hit the ball with his "zwei-sacher" but, nor get to first on balls, he can dodge in front of an inshoot with his back all humped up in the cleverest fashion imaginable, thus gaining his base at the expense of the pitcher, at the same time furnishing fun to the spectators.

Well, "Calliope" had a Dutch understudy, about two stones heavier than himself. This student had developed so cleverly as to threaten, it is said, to supplant Miller in the affections of the Pittsburg rolling-mill hands and glass-workers., who for sport carry linch-pins and dornicks to the game with which to salute the umwhen they disagree with Miller grew jealous of his pupil, and the latter was accordingly released. Hearing of this new seventhmagnitude star out of an engagement, President Golt and Manager Harrington hastened to apply to President Williams, of the Western League, to sign the wonder for Indianapolis. Three minutes after the Hoosier application was filed came a bid from Milwaukee, then one from Kansas City and another from somewhere else, all asking for the released understudy of "Calliope" Miller.

But the young man had only one choice in the Western League, and without waiting for President Williams to say which club should have him, he jumped a train for Indianapolis, arriving vesterday to the surprise of the local management, ready to go to St. Paul with the team. He had not been signed, and for a few hours President Golt was in a quandary. He wired to Williams, and late in the day, after the team was almost to Chicago, received the news that the Indianapolis application had been granted.

The new man is, therefore, all our very own. His name is Berger-Albrecht, Rudolph, Van Thuysen or some such prænomen—and he will play short-stop in St. Paul to-day. When Nagle and Quinn heard that Berger was coming they threw up their caps in unison, and simultaneously exclaimed:

"The world is ours. Indianapolis will now win the pennant." Berger plays back-stop, third base, short, or in the outfield with equal facility and tantalizing perfection. He bats, and when the center-fielder returns with the ball they have to take a hand-bellows to pump his breath into him again. Berger can coach like a steam whistle, and run bases like a house afire, and it is commonly reported that no experienced base-ball-player who doesn't carry a life insurance will attempt to steal second when Berger is behind the bat. It is sure death. Substituting Berger for Clingman at short is just like running in loaded dice on a blind man. The game will all be one way. As was said yesterday, Billy O'Brien will henceforth captain the team. If the man-agement can corral another certain man it has in view, Hengle may be given his re-lease, and then we shall have, practically, a stone-wall infield, impervious to all save cannon-balls.

PITTSBURG, April 22.-Pittsburg opened the season at home to-day with Mr. Von der Abe's Browns. On account of the drizzling rain only three thousand people were in attendance. Pittaburg won the game in the first inning by knocking Breitenstein out of the box, making nine runs, one of which was forced in, and having two men on bases when Caruthers took his place. Caruthers was very effective. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain.

Games Postponed. NEW YORK, April 22,-There were to have been two games of ball played here to-day between Washington and New York, but rain caused a postponement. The Boston-Baltimore game was postponed for the same reason. Von Der Ahe Wants Pete Browning.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PITTSBURG, April 22.—Chris Von der Ahe filed a protest yesterday with President Young against Pete Browning playing ball with Louisville. Von der Ahe claims that negotiations were pending between himself and Browning for the latter to play with the St. Louis club. Von der Ahe says Louisville lost all rights to Browning by not accepting him when assigned to it by the Indianapolis meeting. President Young has not yet given his decision in the matter.

HANOVER WALLOPED.

Bloomington University Wins the Game by a Score of 11 to 6.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. Madison, Ind., April 22.-Hanover lost her first championship ball game to Bloomington this afternoon, by a score of 6 to 11. The visitors' steady playing proved too much for the home team, and after the fourth inning Hanover failed to score. Murphy's pitching was well sustained throughout. White was relieved by Hughes in the sixth inning. Crowe, Hanover's leftfielder, made some phenomenal catches, two of which were obtained only after long runs. Daily, Bloomington's second-baseman, knocked the ball over the fence, but failed to get more than two bases. Notwithstanding the threatening weather there was a large attendance. The score. CHICAGO, April 22.—The secretary of the Illinois-Indiana-Iowa Base-ball League has completed the new schedule. The old one was not satisfactory, as it conflicted with a number of race-meetings. The new schedule, as arranged, provides for the opening games to be played on April 25 at Joliet, Peoria, Evansville and Jacksonville, the contesting clubs being Rockford, Rock Island, Terre Haute and Quincy, respectively. They will close Oct. 19.

Riotous 'Longshoremen.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CHICAGO, April 22.—Shipping interests are suffering on account of the 'longshoremen's strike, which seems as far from settlement as ever. Half a dozen big steamers have been in port for two days without being able to unload any part of their cargoes. Fights between the strikers and nonunion men are of daily occurrence, despite the efforts of the police, and the strikers are growing more and more desperate. This morning a fierce battle took place at the Western Transit Company's dock, at which half a dozen men on each side were badly used up. Judge Marr Still Missing.

FORT WAYNE, April 22.-For several years the "Big Four" packers of Chicago have monopolized trade in dressed meats in this city to the exclusion of local dealers and packers. Mr. Furgeson Has No Love for a Mob. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

PRINCETON, April 22.- William S. Furgeson, a desperate murderer, was captured near this city to-day. It will be remembered Furgeson murdered his invalid brother-in-law, James Garlan, near Bird'seye, two months ago. The trouble arose over an account that Furgeson owed Garlan. The latter demanded a settlement, but Furgeson is said to have seized Garlan by his whiskers and began hammering the poor fellow until he lay at his feet dead. He then carried his victim into the house, washed and laid him out and then made his escape. A large reward was offered for his arrest, but he has heretofore avoided the officers. When captured the prisoner begged the officers not to take him back to Dubois county, knowing a mob awaited his arrival. He was, however, taken to the scene of his crime this afternoon.

Censured by a G. A. R. Post. UNION CITY, April 22.-At a meeting of old soldiers the following preamble and resolution were adopted:

Whereas, The Union City Eagle of last even-ing contained an editorial comment reflecting unkindly upon the conduct of Comrade and Governor Ira J. Chase, upon the occasion of his visit to our city on the 21st instant, and upon the action of ex-soldiers in extending to him a reception; therefore, be it Resolved. That the language of the Eagle that our reception given to Comrade Chase "was without enthusiasm," that in being with us he "violated the rules of courtesy." that his visit was "untimely and offensive," is uncalled for and absolutely false; that such reception was on his part wholly unexpected, and on our part was informal, spontaneous, and without political significance of any kind; that his speech and conduct were courteous, discreet, patriotic and manly; that in doing him honor we desired to have an eminent comrade who had been a private soldier, and to express for him as such an attachment and respect warmer and more lasting than we can feet for the incumbent of any political office, and such as the Engle's editor can never know.
